11:00am – 2:00pm

The Hacienda Restaurant

1725 College Ave. Santa Ana
(North of 17th St.)

$15.00 Per Person

Special Guest Speakers:

Sixty six dogs were seized by police and animal control officers from the Michael Vick dog fighting compound, known as Bad Newz Kennels. Nicole Rattay relocated to Virginia for six weeks to care for the dogs still waiting for transfer to rescue months later. She attended Michael Vick's sentencing.

Nicole Rattay is the Local Coordinator for Shelter Partners for Pit Bulls with Best Friends Animal Society as well as the Executive Director of Just A Dog Pit Bull Rescue. Her experience combines rescue, education and community outreach efforts, as well as a unique role in the reintegration of dogs from the Bad Newz Kennels into society.

On May 9, 2005, the Denver Animal Control began enforcing a city-wide ban on owning pit bull terriers or any dog considered to be part pit bull. More than 1800 beloved family dogs were taken from their homes and killed against the protest of their devastated owners in the first 3 years. Owners who refuse to give up their pit bull face a year in jail and a $999 fine. US residents cannot travel through Denver with their pit bulls unless granted a permit.

Dr. Paula Terifaj is a veterinarian at Founders Veterinary Clinic in Brea who has taken a stand against Breed Specific Legislation. She is a leader of ROVERlution, which is a national dog owners' advocacy group adamantly opposed to restrictive laws and policies that serve to prevent dog ownership on the basis of breed selection or size limitations.
